4. Definitions

Tuition fees

Tuition fees are defined in section 7 of the ESOS Act. They are fees received by a provider (from or on behalf of an overseas student or intending overseas student) that are “directly related to the provision of a course that the provider is providing, or offering to provide, to the student”.

Tuition fees are typically compulsory fees for the delivery of the enrolled course and include items such as:

- tutorials and tutoring sessions
- lectures
- additional requisite training including practicum and practice hours
- ancillary costs for fieldwork, excursions or laboratories
- specialist materials that are mandatory and relate to the provision of the course.

Non-tuition fees

Non-tuition fees cover other items not directly related to tuition, and may be compulsory or discretionary.

Provider Default: When Hays International College is in breach of the contract with a student where Hays International College is required to deliver educational services as outlined in the contract for a fee paid in advance by the student. The ESOS Legislation Amendment (TPS) Act (2012) – Division 2, Subsection A, 46A – defines provider default as follows:

A registered provider defaults, in relation to an overseas student or intending overseas student and a course at a location, if:

(a) either of the following occurs:

- (i) the provider fails to start to provide the course to the student at the location on the agreed starting day;
- (ii) the course ceases to be provided to the student at the location at any time after it starts but before it is completed; and

(b) the student has not withdrawn before the default day

(c) the course is not provided in full to the student because a sanction has been imposed on Hays International College or any other reason.

Provider Default in Case of Closure:-

In case of Hays International College closure the students should provide the following documents to assist TPS in calculating the refund of tuition fees for the part of the course for which the student has paid but which has not been delivered or assessed:

- The student agreement with Hays International College;
- Original receipts for tuition fees pre-paid to Hays International College;
- Bank statements; and
- Other relevant correspondence which identifies the amount of prepaid fees paid (e.g. an email or other correspondence between Hays International College and the student).

DIBP: means the Department of Immigration and Border Protection

TPS: means the Tuition Protection Service

Student Default: The ESOS Legislation Amendment (TPS) Act (2012) – Division 2, Subsection B, 47A – defines student default as follows:

An overseas student or intending overseas student defaults, in relation to a course at a location, if:

- (a) the course starts at the location on the agreed starting day, but the student does not start the course on that day (and has not previously withdrawn); or
- (b) the student withdraws from the course at the location (either before or after the agreed starting day); or
- (c) the registered provider of the course refuses to provide, or continue providing, the course to the student at the location because of one or more of the following events:
 - (i) the student failed to pay an amount he or she was liable to pay the provider, directly or indirectly, in order to undertake the course;
 - (ii) the student breached a condition of his or her student visa;
 - (iii) misbehaviour by the student.

Student Default in Case of Withdrawal from the Course :-

Where a student withdraws from the course and Hays International has not refunded the unused portion of their prepaid tuition fees. The student should check their Student Enrolment agreement to ensure that they are eligible for a refund. If they do not have a copy they will be required to contact Hays International College or their agent and ask for a copy. After reading their agreement, if they still believe that they are entitled to a refund, they should contact Hays International College in writing seeking a refund. If a student is not satisfied with the outcome of the Hays International College's refund decision they can contact TPS. In this case they will be required to provide the TPS with documents (such as the outcome letter of Hays International College's refund decision) to support their claim for a refund.

Compassionate or compelling circumstances are generally those beyond the control of the student and which have an impact upon the student's course progress or wellbeing. These could include, but are not limited to:

- serious illness or injury, where a medical certificate states that the student was unable to attend classes
- bereavement of close family members such as parents or grandparents (Where possible a death certificate should be provided)
- major political upheaval or natural disaster in the home country requiring emergency travel and this has impacted on the student's studies; or
- a traumatic experience which could include:
 - involvement in, or witnessing of a serious accident; or
 - witnessing or being the victim of a serious crime, and this has impacted on the student (these cases should be supported by police or psychologists' reports)
- inability to begin studying on the course commencement date due to delay in receiving a student visa.

Unused-tuition fees: Unused tuition fees that a student has pre-paid for educational services that Hays International College has yet to provide to the student.

Refund: An amount of fees paid by the student to Hays International College, which is returned to the student under specific circumstances defined in this policy. Under the ESOS Act (2012 Amendment), a refund may only be paid to the student (unless another person is specified in the Student Agreement as being able to receive the refund on behalf of the student).
